CAPTASA ANNUAL CONFERENCE

TARGET AUDIENCE

Attendees will include physicians, nurses, pharmacists, dentists, chemical dependency counselors, psychologists, therapists, social workers, employee assistance professionals and other health care providers, as well as recovering professionals.

CAPTASA CONFERENCE 2018 OBJECTIVES

- Participants will be able to identify the signs and symptoms of Alcoholism and Drug Addiction
- Participants will be able to use a one question screening tool for Addiction
- Participants will be able to describe a set of diagnostic criteria for Addiction that works
- Participants will be able to use Collaboration with Identified Client/Patient to promote more effective substance use assessment
- Participants will be able to address Inherent Defensiveness in the Assessment Process to Maximize the possibility of accurate diagnosis and recommendations
- Participants will be able to encourage the Assessor to have enhanced confidence in discussing substance use with identified individual seeking assessment
- Participants will be able to identify the dynamics of Addiction/Recovery within a Systems Perspective
- Participants will learn the family factors that increase the risks of addictions and that promote long term recovery
- Participants will learn strategies that facilitate systems change when working with families in recovery
- Participants will increase their understanding of the current research on addiction/recovery
- Participants will learn that addiction is a chronic disease that must be treated through the entire continuum of care
- Participants will learn the continuum of care from assessment through independent living in long term recovery
- Participants will learn that using an abstinence based, 12 step solution in a peer driven structure increases the possibilities of long term recovery
- Participants will be able to discuss the history of medicinal use of marijuana and the current and psychosocial climate surrounding the use of medical marijuana
- Participants will be able to discuss and identify various components on the marijuana plant and their known hypothesized mechanisms of action
- Participants will be able to discuss the current evidence available for the use of medical marijuana in identified disorders
- Participants will be able to define the terms dual diagnosis, co-occurring disorders and understand the historical context of these ideas and where we are today
- Participants will be able to understand common ideas encountered about patients with this problem in various medical/treatment settings versus facts
- Participants will be able to discuss common mental health problems in the addiction treatment setting and how the approach has evolved
- Participants will review the approach taken in addiction psychiatry with patients who present for treatment
- Participants will be able to discuss the history of 12 step recovery with dual diagnosis, and experience with AA's impact on persons with severe mental illness and addiction
- Participants will be able to describe the three major weaknesses of the seminal Jasinski et al 1978 study of buprenorphine: a. only 3 subjects of 5 completed the study and that very few subjects could be enrolled because the Addiction Research Center in Lexington, Ky was being shut down at the time with no access to new prisoner subjects. b. Researchers chose two inadequate procedures with which to test for physical dependence. c. Summary conclusions in the article state low-abuse potential despite subject self-reports of experiencing strong euphoria
- Participants will be able to describe how a NIDA 1992 monograph: a) presumed buprenorphine to be used as a step-down opioid with goal of abstinence and 2) did not have the information gained in the mid 1990's that demonstrated the ceiling effect on euphoria to be much above the standard treatment doses
- Participants will be able to describe the transition across time of the target-goals of buprenorphine MAT: from a) short-term detoxification agent within the purely-opiate addicted population, to b) medium-length replacement therapy with a target of abstinence from it and all drugs of reward to c) indefinite length (suggested lifetime use) medication replacement therapy with no expectation of abstinence from all drugs of reward and with social-ills harms reduction as the justification for use in polysubstance addicted
- Participants will be able to cite the flaws in comparing lifetime buprenorphine replacement practice for addiction with lifetime medications used to treat diabetes
- Participants will be able to understand the historical perspective of the Recovery Kentucky program
- Participants will be able to understand how the Recovery Kentucky supportive housing model, promotes long term recovery from addiction
- Participants will be able to understand the behavioral outcomes of clients completing Recovery Kentucky's long term recovery program
- Participants will be able to learn the range of inpatient and outpatient evaluations.
- Participants will be able to learn the range of treatment options: outpatient, short term residential, long term residential
- Participants will be able to learn aftercare options: transitional, support group, MAT where appropriate
- Participants will be able to identify the prevalence of alcohol abuse in the elderly.
- Participants will be able to identify risks factors for alcoholism in the geriatric population.
- Participants will be able to identify alcohol related co-morbidities frequently seen in the post acute setting in elderly patients.
- Participants will be able to identify assessment tools to screen alcohol abuse in the elderly.
- Participants will be able to identify short term medical management as well as potential treatment options for the elderly patient suffering from alcoholism.
- Participants will be able to identify up and coming drugs
- Participants will be able to understand why ebb and flow in use
- Participants will learn drugs of abuse statistics
- Participants will be able to identify adaptive vs problematic uses of internet gaming
- Participants will be able to list recovery options for internet gaming disorder
- Participants will be able to list other addictive behaviors often found co-occurring with internet gaming disorder
- Participants will be able to identify adaptive vs problematic uses of internet pornography
- Participants will be able to list the recovery options for problematic internet pornography use
- Participants will learn about other common consequences of problematic internet pornography use beyond the realm of addiction

FACULTY

BURNS M. BRADY, MD, ASAM, FASAM, ABFP, FAAFP

Dr. Burns M. Brady is a 1964 graduate of the University of Louisville Medical School and completed his internship and residency training at St. Joseph's Infirmary in Louisville.

Dr. Brady is a member of numerous professional medical organizations, including the local, state and national medical associations, the American Academy of Family Practice and is a Fellow of the American Society of Addiction Medicine. He is a Board-certified family physician and a Board-certified addictionologist.

Dr. Brady is an addiction consultant for a 400-bed men and women's homeless shelter, The Healing Place, which has been recognized as one of the top five in the United States. He continues to be a very active volunteer.

He served as a clinical instructor on alcoholism for the University of Louisville, University of Kentucky, and Pikeville Schools of Medicine. He also served as a consultant to the American Bar Association, Kentucky Bar Association, Kentucky Dental Association and Kentucky Nurses Association on issues of professional impairment.

Dr. Brady retired for the second time in 2011 as the Medical Director of the Kentucky Physicians Health Foundation-Impaired Physicians Program and has been named Medical Director Emeritus.

Dr. Brady has presented on various topics relating to impairment issues on a local, state, national and international level.

She has multiple Geriatric publications and recently was named 2017 Louisville Top Docs in Geriatrics.

Russ Read, MA, CARES

Russ Read is a Certified Addiction Recovery Empowerment Specialist (CARES) as certified in the state of Georgia. He is employed by a non-profit board of directors as Executive Director of Beacon House Aftercare in Louisville, Kentucky, a transitional living program for men in recovery from alcoholism and other addictions. As a community-service advocate, he is one of three co-founders of the Kentucky Harm Reduction Coalition, an organization dedicated to reducing substance-abuse overdose incidents, overdose deaths, and affiliated health risks of infections in the Kentucky and Southern Indiana region. His purpose is to continue his work with men and women struggling with alcohol and substance abuse, reducing stigma and barriers to recovery and providing education, awareness and treatment options to those seeking recovery for themselves, family members and friends. Prior to this chapter in his life, Russ enjoyed a 40 year career in television broadcast, production and marketing in Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio, and at WAVE 3 in Louisville, Kentucky. He is a two-time Emmy Award winner. He holds degrees of a B.S. in communication degree from Xavier University in Cincinnati, Ohio, and a Masters of Arts degree from Bellarmine University, Louisville, Kentucky.

CHRIS STEWART, MD

Chris Stewart, MD, is an addiction psychiatrist with an extensive background in a variety of addiction treatment settings. Before joining Working Sobriety, he was the training director of an ACGME-accredited addiction psychiatry training program at the University of Louisville, where, along with his teaching and clinical duties, he participated in research exploring the relationship between addiction, psychological trauma, and neuroelectrophysiology of the brain. Dr. Stewart is board certified in general psychiatry, addiction psychiatry, addiction medicine, and psychosomatic medicine. His clinical work integrates his training and expertise in looking specifically at the intersection of trauma-related disorders and addiction. Dr. Stewart is a Certified Group Psychotherapist (CGP) with the International Board for Certification of Group Psychotherapists and provides both individual, group, and intensive psychotherapy to patients seeking outpatient treatment for addiction.

SCOTT ALAN TEITELBAUM, M.D

Dr. Scott Teitelbaum plays an integral part in the College of Medicine at the University of Florida as he currently serves as the Vice Chair of the Department of Psychiatry, Chief of the Division of Addiction Medicine, Medical Director of the Florida Recovery Center, Pottash Professor in Psychiatry and Neuroscience, and University of Florida American Board of Addiction Medicine (ABAM) Fellowship Director.

Originally trained and board certified as a pediatrician, Dr. Teitelbaum entered an Addiction Medicine Fellowship, in 1997, at the University of Florida. After which, he completed a fellowship in Child Psychiatry and ultimately joined the faculty of both the Department of Psychiatry and the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Florida. Dr. Teitelbaum became the Medical Director of the Florida Recovery Center in 2002, and since then has evaluated and treated over 3,000 healthcare and other professionals from all over the country, helping them on the path to rehabilitation. Through his efforts, UF Health Florida Recovery Center offers evidence-based addiction evaluation and treatment which has been called the best in the United States by world-class experts.

As the UF ABAM Fellowship Director, leading one of the first ABAM accredited fellowships in the United States, Dr. Teitelbaum has trained more addiction medicine fellows than any other program in the US. UF Psychiatry and the UF Florida Recovery Center are mandatory rotations for the College of Medicine medical students and Dr. Teitelbaum has received the Extemporary Teacher Award on numerous occasions for his role in training the tomorrow's physicians. In 2016, Dr. Teitelbaum was awarded the Pottash Endowment, allowing for the creation of a research initiative focused around Addiction Medicine and the fight towards recovery. This endowment, along with the efforts of the research team, helping physicians explore and treat the disease of addiction.

MICHAEL E. TOWNSEND, MSSW

Mike Townsend serves as Recovery Kentucky Administrator with the Kentucky Housing Corporation. He has worked for the corporation for the past twelve years. Recovery Kentucky is a statewide initiative to build and operate fourteen 100-bed addiction recovery centers throughout Kentucky for men and women needing long term substance abuse recovery and housing support. The Recovery Kentucky programs are modeled after The Healing Place of Louisville and The Hope Center of Lexington.

Prior to Mr. Townsend's employment with the Kentucky Housing Corporation, he served as State Director for the Division of Substance Abuse within the Cabinet for Health and Family Services for 25 years.

He is a graduate of Centre College and graduate of the University of Louisville Kent School of Social Work where he received his Master's of Science in Social Work.

CAPTASA IS STAYING GREEN!

What this means for participants: We will no longer be making copies of presentation handouts for each conference attendee. All presentations will be available at our website www.captasa.org one week prior to the conference so that you may download and print your own copies. This will save greatly on paper, which means fewer trees will be killed! It will also allow us to avoid an increase in registration fees. For those participants who prefer handouts be provided for them there will be an additional charge of $35 per set. We hope you support us in this endeavor to do our little part to save the environment. We look forward to seeing you in January 2016!
